Discovering who we really are and learning how to use the power that lies within us is the ongoing journey of Self Mastery. It is a unique path for each of us, although there are many similarities. WE each have the power to create the life and health we desire, although many of us have forgotten how.

During this gathering we will explore the “how” and begin the integration process. We’ll focus on how we can change our life, improve our health, release limitations, clarify our life purpose and reconnect with the power that lies within. Our time together will be informative as well as experiential, allowing for questions and discussion. We will learn and experience an empowering process for releasing self limiting patterns.

We are each individualized expressions of The One Source and as we awaken to this truth; align ourselves with this inner wisdom; and attune ourselves with the power of Love within us, the limitations of the human cocoon fall away and we emerge with the wings to fly into our spiritual freedom, which is our birthright.
